Passphrase sheet: rolling the 25th word

Diceware with the EFF long word list · 6 words ≈ 77 bits · Self-Experiment 2 / chapter 4

⚠ Once it is filled in, this sheet carries your passphrase. Never photograph it, never scan it, never type it into anything digital. After the restore test, transfer the passphrase to the backup medium and destroy this sheet. The passphrase backup is stored apart from the seed, because whoever finds both together has everything.

⚠ For self-experiments: a documented passphrase counts as compromised and is never used for real coins.

METHOD (RULES FROM CHAPTER 4)

You need: 1 casino die (or 5) · this list printed out · a pen, and no computer

1. Roll five times (or throw five dice once and read them from left to right). Every number from 1 to 6 counts, no re-roll needed.
2. The five digits give the key number. Look the word up from page 2 on and enter it in capitals, exactly as printed.
3. Repeat six times. Separator: exactly one space between the words, none at the start or the end.
4. Count the characters: all word lengths plus 5 spaces. 50 or more → roll all six words again, not just the longest one (limit on the Trezor One and on Trezor firmware before 2.13.0: 50 bytes).
5. The finished passphrase is written down in exactly two places: on the device and on the backup medium. Never in a notes app, never on a clipboard, never in a message.

	Roll 1	Roll 2	Roll 3	Roll 4	Roll 5	Word (CAPITALS)	Characters

5
6

Characters in total: sum of the six word lengths + 5 spaces. It has to stay under 50, otherwise roll all six words again.

CHECKS: WITHOUT THESE STEPS THE PASSPHRASE IS A RISK

- ☐ Characters counted, total under 50.
- ☐ No space at the start or the end. You see it nowhere, and it still produces a different wallet.
- ☐ Checked character by character on the device against this sheet (BitBox02 and BitBox02 Nova show the passphrase on the display before you confirm).
- ☐ Wallet fingerprint (XFP) noted and kept with the backup, the only check there is, because a wrong passphrase opens an empty wallet without comment: _____
- ☐ Restore test: device wiped, restored from seed plus passphrase, fingerprint compared.
- ☐ Passphrase transferred to the backup medium, stored apart from the seed, this sheet destroyed.

EFF long word list: 7776 words (11111 to 66666)

The five digits in front of each word are your five rolls in order. Take the words in capitals, exactly as printed. ⚠ Four words contain a hyphen (DROP-DOWN, FELT-TIP, T-SHIRT, YO-YO): allowed, but not punchable with a standard letter punch set, so anyone punching a backup rolls that one word again.
